Mayor's Corner

Mike Bujakowski

“Coming together is a beginning, keeping together is progress, working together is success”
 `Henry Ford

I believe we are covering all three phases of the above thought. We are coming together, staying together, and working together. Differences have been set aside for the common good of the city, opinions are being heard, and we are on a better path.

The city has had discussions with developers who, for many years stayed away from our city because no one

An up close and personal interview with Charles E. Dane, new Assistant City Manager for the City of Hopewell

Conducted by Herbert Bragg, Director, Intergovernmental & Public Affairs

Q Mr. Dane, given your experience in local government, what do you see as priorities for the City?

A The United States has recently come out of an economic downturn that has really changed local Government for what I believe is forever. There is little tolerance for increased taxes or inefficient programs, so Local Government has been forced to change the way it does business. We are looking to enhance our economic development thought we were serious and often were difficult to deal with on a business development basis. We are changing this perception, slowly but surely. Our city staff is looking at opportunities with a "how can we make this work" attitude as opposed to "that won't work" or, "we tried that 12 years ago and it did not work". It is a new day and time in Hopewell. We have many new Directors, some with familiar faces, and all with a willingness to succeed. While we have some new faces we also have some very loyal and long term employees who work so hard and long to make Hopewell better. Without them we could not make this progress. We need them, we thank them, and we are really glad they are here.

LOVE IS IN THE AIR.

Not the Love Boat, but the Love Sign. It will be in place in front of the Visitors Center within a week. It is without a doubt an awesome sign and one that will force other communities to rethink their own sign and perhaps head back to the drawing board. The sign was designed, constructed, painted, and installed using only local talent without any city funding. A great job by all. THANKS!!

COUNCIL CHAMBERS

We are in the process of upgrading Council chambers. More viewing screens on both side walls will make viewing presentations easier for those in attendance. Improving the sound system will also make hearing the amazing and totally important comments by council clearer. Finally, thanks to Danny Riddle, the City Seal which is mounted behind council has been painted and is breathtaking. Once completed you should come to a council meeting and see the improvements that have been implemented to make your attendance more enjoyable and your participation easier.

M & T AND BPOL

Once again we are facing a strong effort in Richmond to eliminate or restrict our taxing powers regarding the Machinery and Tool Tax as well as the Business Tax. These two items represent approximately $6 million dollars in our budget and passage of the bills to eliminate or reduce these items would deal a crippling blow to our budget and our ability to provide services to our citizens. Let's say a 1 cent tax increase for our citizens equals $200,000 to the city. (this is a high estimate) we would have to raise taxes $.30 to cover this loss of revenue.

I know that folks who are pushing this agenda say they have a plan to make all localities whole but this cannot be accurate. While they may be able to tweak certain items in larger localities like Chesterfield, etc. we are at a distinct disadvantage because of our size and limited resources there is no way a formula that makes a large locality whole will have the same result for a smaller locality. Our representatives have fought against this legislation in the past and we need them to do the same this year and I have no reason to think they will not support us. However, it never hurts to mention to them, in a nice and polite manner that we really need their vote and support to protect our city.

Make your voices heard.

portfolio more aggressively than in the past. We have to find a way to increase revenues through increased tax generation, not increased tax rates. More specifically for Hopewell this means we must focus on several areas where Economic Development opportunities may exist; for example the Route 36/I-295 corridor is our prime development area; we must also build on the City Marina and Beacon Theatre successes as well as the success of the downtown partnership as these areas offer smaller but quite unique opportunities for creating an identity for this city. Additionally, we need to begin looking how to improve housing stock within the City as we can be an appealing place to visit, but unless we have appropriate housing for all demographics, we will never be fully successful. Lastly, we need to improve our offerings to citizens through our recreation and parks programs, through our festivals and events, and other major activities. We need to become a destination City that people are talking about.

Q Mr. Dane, do you have a leadership and management philosophy?

A If I had to describe it in one word it would be collaboration. There is strength in numbers and by listening to others you can not only build a more complete solution, you build consensus at the same time. Collectively, we come up with solutions to solve problems far better than any one of us could individually. Now I realize that ultimately someone has to make a decision and I'm not afraid to be that person. I do however look for the best information available at that time to frame the decision.

Q Mr. Dane, what are your primary duties and responsibilities?

A I am the lead person for economic development activities within the City and that is my primary responsibility. I am also responsible for the Department of Recreation and Parks as the Director reports to me. I'm also responsible for and oversee the Departments of Neighborhood Assistant & Planning as well as the Department of Social Services. Of course, I serve as City Manager in the City Manager's absence as well.

Q Mr. Dane, how do you see the City's future and do you believe the City is on a sustainable prosperous future?

A Herbert, I have lived in Hopewell practically all my life. It seemed, for the past 20-25 years things were not improving as we were in a slow but continuous decline as a community. However, I think that the trajectory has changed and we are now headed on an exciting path that will return this City to its days of glory. I think the future of Hopewell is tremendously bright. I heard the Mayor say a few months ago that this is Hopewell's time and I really believe it. We have interest being shown by commercial and residential developers like never before. We have the success of the Beacon and the beautiful marina improvements that we can build upon. I'm very excited about the current direction of Hopewell and I am honored to be part of the leadership.

Q Mr. Dane, what would you see as key steps in communicating to the public?

A We have a very diverse public and therefore we must use a very diverse communication strategy so that we can be as transparent as possible for our citizens. We need to use every available social media tool available. But we also need to use as many of our old methods of communications as well to include newspapers, an active website, the City's E-Currents Newsletter, publicly broadcast meetings, and any others which may help us disseminate information. We need to do everything possible to keep our citizens informed as to what is going on within our City.

Q Mr. Dane, what are you doing to strengthen employee morale and benefits?

A I think if you manage collectively and allow employees to be a part of the process, the results and outcomes will be favorable. We have very good and hard working employees and we have to include them in our planning processes and let them have a say and a stake in the game. If we can successfully create buy-in and ownership by our employees, in the path that we are on, I think our chances of success increase significantly.

Q Mr. Dane, anything else you wish to share with the citizens of Hopewell?

A Being a lifelong resident of this City, I'm excited and thrilled to be a part of Hopewell at this juncture of my career. I look forward to the future of the Wonder City as I believe this is an exciting and pivotal time in its history.

Mr. Dane, I want to thank you for taking time out of your busy schedule to participate in this interview and for sharing your vision, leadership and thoughts with the citizens of Hopewell.

Debra Kloske Reason invited to guest speak at the New York University School of Professional Studies 33rd Institute

Ms. Debra Kloske Reason, Master Commissioner of the Revenue for the City of Hopewell, has been invited to be the guest speaker at the New York University School of Professional Studies 33rd Institute on State and Local Taxation Program. The program will be held at the Grand Hyatt New York, December 8-9, 2014. Ms. Reason will be speaking on “Taxes at the Local Level: A Rising Concern”. The program is through NYU’s Finance and Law Programs.

“Local taxes are a growing concern among multistate companies. Localities are feeling the pressure to provide services and with the reduction in the historical funding from the state treasurers, localities are in turn stepping up enforcement of existing revenue provisions and enacting new revenue provisions.

Often, both the business community and the local taxing jurisdictions are working with less than clear statutes and ordinances and very little defined administrative process in both the imposition of the tax and the appeals process. This session provides a perspective on the types of taxes and fees imposed by localities and how the localities and the business community interact in understanding both the taxes and the appeals process.”

Hopewell Stormwater Overview and Fee Concept

Federal and state regulations require the City of Hopewell to develop and implement a series of unfunded mandated programs to help improve the quality of stormwater runoff released into its streams and rivers. Stormwater carries pollutants into the rivers and streams that feed in to the Chesapeake Bay. Because Hopewell is a 'river' city we must comply with the new rules. These regulations regarding stormwater have drastically changed over the last couple of years due to the new regulatory goals of reducing pollution levels within the Chesapeake Bay. Because of these needs Hopewell's current stormwater collection and discharge system needs a significant amount of infrastructure upgrades, system restoration and staffing increases to comply with the new governmental standards.

The City staff is currently in the process of developing a proposed stormwater utility fee based on Commonwealth Code of Virginia's Stormwater Utility Enabling Authority (§ 15.2-2114).

Stormwater Overview and Fee Concept

1) What is stormwater?

a. Stormwater is rain or melted snow that flows over driveways, parking lots, roads, sidewalks, streets, roofs and any surface that cannot absorb water. As water travels over these impervious surface areas, it picks up dirt, trash, oil, grease, pesticides, fertilizers, pet waste, and other pollutants. Stormwater does not flow to a treatment plant and flows directly into our local creeks and streams as well as the Appomattox and James Rivers.

Failure to effectively deal with stormwater results in flooding; pollution of streams, creeks, and rivers; and leads toward erosion problems such as ... State and Federal regulations require all municipalities to environmentally protect our waterways by managing how stormwater is treated locally. This treatment and management is estimated to cost the City of Hopewell up to 2 million dollars annually for the next 10 fiscal years.

2) What is a stormwater fee?

a. All property owners will be charged a monthly stormwater fee with their sewage and refuse bill. This fee is designed to help the City of Hopewell in the management and treatment of stormwater.

3) How much are property owners expected to pay each month for stormwater management?

a. A proposed rate of $8 per month is being proposed for each residential household or $96/year.

b. Multi-family residences, houses of worship, and commercial and industrial-based zones will see a proposed rate of $8 per month for every 2,100 square feet of impervious surface areas found within their property boundaries. This rate will be calculated on a case-by-case basis and will be based upon the latest satellite images.

c. These rates will only effect properties with current development.

4) How can the property owner decrease their monthly fee?

a. All property owners will be given the opportunity to decrease their monthly fee by up to 50% for up to 3 years. After 3 years, property owners can reapply for their discount.

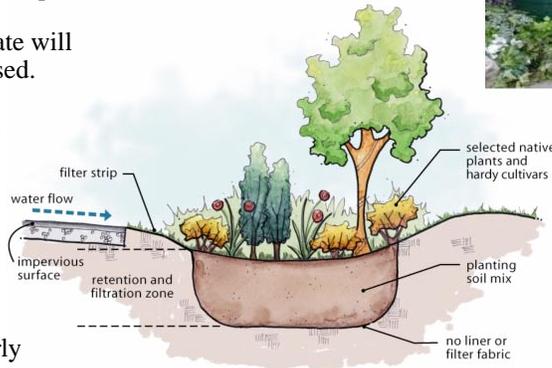

b. In order to receive a discount, property owners can implement on-site, owner maintained treatment of stormwater through the use of rain barrels, rain gardens, pervious pavers, vegetative filter strips, etc.

c. The on-site treatment discount rate will vary based upon what on-site project is used. Owners will be able to combine multiple projects to get a full 50% discounted rate. Less projects means less of a discount.

d. The City will inspect the on-site stormwater projects to make sure it meets the standard for a 3 year discount and will perform random inspections of the projects throughout the 3 year period to make sure they are being properly maintained.

e. Exception: Those properties that operate a Commonwealth of Virginia, Department of Environmental Quality Virginia Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (VPDES) permit and who send their stormwater runoff to a combined sewer system will receive up to an additional 40% off their monthly bill.

Going forward the City will be holding several public information meetings on this matter over the next several months and we look forward to hearing from you on how to pay for these federal and state unfunded mandates.

Hopewell High School Gains Full Accreditation

The Virginia Department of Education released information yesterday regarding Accreditation for public schools all across the Commonwealth. Hopewell High School reached a goal they have been striving toward since 2010.

“We are very proud of the fact that Hopewell High School is now Fully Accredited. The staff and students have worked hard to make great strides in math and in our graduation rate,” said Superintendent Dr. John Fahey. The school posted an 84% pass rate, well above the minimum 70% required to reach the state minimum requirement. Hopewell High School’s scores are up a full 40% over the past two years.

“That does not say that we don’t still have a lot of work to do, but there are some real positives that we think are worth sharing,” continued Fahey. “Carter G. Woodson Middle School made significant gains in math, significantly surpassing the state standards as well.” The middle school scored an 82% on the math test. That score was up 25% in two years. The school will be accredited with warning in English.

The City’s elementary schools mirrored the state’s trend in dipping scores, in the areas of English and Math. All three of the division’s elementary schools are accredited with warning.

“Plans have been implemented to ensure that the curriculum and our teaching strategies align with the more rigorous state standards,” stated Dr. Kim Evans, Assistant Superintendent of Instruction. “We continue to solicit the assistance of our parents as we work together to provide a quality and well-rounded education for our students.”

“We feel like we are on the right track, and are striving to give our students an education that will make them college and workforce ready,” said Fahey.

K-Kamp Starts Off the Year Right

Nothing brings a school building to life like the sound of students laughing and learning. This year the halls of all three Hopewell elementary schools were alive a few weeks early, as the division introduced its first K-Kamp for new kindergarten students.

The three day camp, that ran August the 18th through the 20th, saw over 90 young students take part. It gave them the chance to get out the first week jitters, ride a school bus (many for the very first time), and learn their way around their new school. It gave the students some experience, making it easier for parents and teachers that first week.

Hopewell High School Wins Seven Trophies at Marching Classic

Congratulations to the Hopewell High School Marching Blue Devils for winning 7 trophies on Saturday, September 20th, at the Greensville County High School Marching Classic in Emporia, VA. They competed in the Single A Band Division against Petersburg, Charles City, and the Sussex Central High School Marching bands.

“This victory means a lot to the band program. It’s a testament to all the hard work and dedication that the students put into making this an award winning band program,” says Band Director, Andres’ Pierce. The Band won 1st Place trophies for Overall Band, Percussion, and Drum Major. The Band was awarded 2nd Place for Horn line, Dance, and Flags. The Band also placed 3rd in the category of Majorette.

When asked about what he was most proud of Mr. Pierce added, “I’m proud of the fact that most of the marching band students are freshman and they came into the band ready to work and uphold the standard that has been set by the upper-classmen.”

The band is set to perform at the Peanut Festival Parade in Emporia, VA and then again, in October, at the Virginia Motorsports Park.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AWARENESS MONTH

Domestic violence is not just a women's issue. According to the National Coalition to End Domestic Violence, one out of 14 men has been physically assaulted by an intimate partner at some point in their lives. Estimates are that 835,000 men are assaulted each year – that's approximately 2,300 men each and every day. Recognizing when a relationship is becoming abusive or controlling is often challenging and difficult. The following list of "red flags" can help you evaluate your relationship. Ask yourself, if your partner:

- Wants to move too quickly into the relationship.
- Does not honor your boundaries.
- Is excessively jealous and accuses you of having affairs.
- Wants to know where you are all of the time and frequently calls, emails and texts you.
- Criticizes you or puts you down.
- Takes no responsibility for their behavior and blames others.
- Blames the entire failure of previous relationships on their partner.
- Insists that you stop spending time with your friends or family.
- Insists that you stop participating in leisure interests.
- Rages out of control and is impulsive.

If you are in an abusive relationship, or think you may be, know that you are not alone and that the abuse is not your fault. Consider seeking services to help you plan for your safety, explore options, and identify community resources.
